

Community Mental Health Priorities

Your Input Is Needed!

Plumas County Behavioral Health (PCBH) is updating community priorities for mental health services as part of its Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) Annual Update and Community Planning Process to help identify needs and gaps in community mental health. Community priorities are an important part of how limited resources are used to address mental health needs in Plumas County. The surveys will be collected from February 4-15, 2019.

This survey starts with the community priorities from prior planning activities. It includes an area for you to add mental health services and supports that are important to you and your family.

The survey responses will be summarized, and we will hold follow up focus groups and public meetings to review the findings and get your input about how to lower the level of urgency of these priorities.

If you would like to be kept informed about the community meetings, please send an email to Aimee Heaney, MHSA Coordinator, at aheaney@pcbh.services or call 530-283-6307, ext. 1016

You may also leave your information below. Your name will not be kept with your survey responses to ensure that your responses are confidential.

Yes, I would like to receive more information about this planning process, including announcements about community meetings, subsequent survey opportunities, and Community Mental Health Priorities in June 2019 that result from this process.

Community Mental Health Priorities

Please take a few minutes to complete the survey below:

This survey starts with the community priorities from prior planning activities. It continues to include an area for you to add mental health services and supports that are important to you. Mark the level of urgency on each of the previously identified priorities and add priorities you would like us to explore. This is a snapshot of current priorities and is expected to change over time. Thank you for your ideas.
